Just curious,

Saw a Explorer on Route 95 today that had big red writing "Disaster Response Vehicle" on the tailgate with commercial plates. Is that ER-1?

Ask "Boats" what the last configuration of ER1 was. I think he spoke with them before they went to the mattresses.

You have got to be shitting me. . He has been hanging around and trying to get a job with my department. He works for a radio service or so he says. Thanks for this. I don't know how I missed this post before. We knew he was a whack job but damn. He even has an address in our town now, quite a distance from Uxbridge.

Re: CMPSA Whacker bites back...

With all the budget cut backs and well trained police officers looking for jobs, I am sure they will chose CMPSA over anyone else. After all where else can a paranoid skitzo get a job as a police officer/wanna be and have mr. too long wacker pants who is with homeland security!
